Indian Cultural Center and Museum Task Force Meets in Sacramento on March 17th

SACRAMENTO -- The California Indian Cultural Center and Museum Task Force will meet in Sacramento from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Monday, March 17th in the Resources Building Auditorium at 1416 9th Street in downtown Sacramento. The meeting is open to the public.

Acting California State Parks Director and Executive Secretary of the Task Force Ruth Coleman will convene the meeting. Agenda items include introduction of the Task Force members and a review of their responsibilities, outline of the project schedule, and election of a Chairperson. There will also be time for public comment.

Future agenda items will include site selection, master plan design, long-term operations and governance structure.

The Davis Administration has been a major supporter of the effort to create the California Indian Museum and Cultural Center. The museum will be under the jurisdiction of the California Department of Parks and Recreation. Senate Bill 2063 (Brulte) established the California Indian Cultural Center and Museum Task Force, an advisory group consisting of Native Americans and representatives of State cultural agencies to assist the department with the creation of the new museum.

The site, design and scope of the museum have not yet been determined.
